W. S. WOODBURN

DEDICATION

We, the Annual staff, salute you, Mr. Woodburn, for your kind and helpful service to the students of our school. You have worked so patiently with us day after day throughout the entire year, not only to teach us chemistry itself, but also to help us in acquiring so many of those useful habits, which we will long use after many a chemical formula is forgotten. We will never forget your patience with our feeble efforts, nor the conciseness of your explanations, nor the methodical way in which you taught us to perform our experiments with exactness, and we will always remember with delight your subtle sense of humor and your kindly word of advice and helpful suggestions. So to you, Mr. Woodburn, in behalf of the class of 1938, we dedicate the Annual, the Parade of 1938.

SCHOOL

FOREWORD

Experience has taught us that everyone, whether young or old, finds pleasure in recalling pleasant experiences and in reviewing the events of the past. As the years pass by, we find increasing satisfaction in looking back to review our accomplishments. But how soon does the mind, which becomes absorbed in more compelling needs of the moment, lose many of the details, and thereby lose many a pleasant memory and the more delightful moments of reflection. Realizing the natural desire of the students to have some record of the days they spent in high school to which they may turn in future years, we the members of the staff of the 1938 Annual have chosen as our theme the Parade of 1938 to give you, the reader, a pictorial review of the year's activities. For 1938 has been fruitful in events of interest and we hope that the Annual may recall for you many delightful experiences by means of never-forgetting pictures. The more important events of each activity of our high school life we now parade before you in words and in pictures. So turn the pages and read the story of the year. On with the Parade of 1938!

OUR SUPERINTENDENT

For the past thirty-five years Mr. Graham has been our leader. He has held high ideals before us in all of our intellectual parades, first as principal of the high school, and later, from 1929 to the present day as superintendent of our schools. Throughout this long march he has capably guided and directed, not only our mental progress, but our physical advances as well. Keenly interested in all our activities, especially in our athletics, we see Mr. Graham as one of the earliest leaders in inter-scholastic competitive sports, and as one who did much to make the W. P. I. A. L. a success.

We see him again as the leader of many fine customs and traditions of our school which have become firmly established and much beloved. Among these is our chapel service, so dear to the students and the alumni. As it is among the most cherished memories of the school days, we shall always thank Mr. Graham for teaching us how to pause amid the day's march for that quiet half-hour.

WILLIAM C. GRAHAM
Superintendent

Mr. FLOYD CARSON

Our Principal

By his helpful words of encouragement Mr. Carson has proven himself a real friend to all of us. His interest in our activities and his enthusiasm for our success has encouraged us to keep in step through the parade of the year

Our Vice Principal

By his genuine sympathy and his kindly understanding of our problems, Mr. Getter has helped us to keep the regular and steady pace from day to day, that we may hold our banner high to the end of the parade

Mr. RAY GETTER

Dean of Girls

With her cheery smile and friendly word, Miss Edna Reitz has made her cozy room a haven where girls may go to discuss their problems and questions of habits, manners, dress, and all kinds of social activities. She also supervises the Girls' Council and the Senior Counsellors. The former is composed of one girl from each health class. These girls serve as dean's aides and have as their goal, keeping the appearance and social atmosphere of our school the finest. The Senior Counsellors are selected by our dean upon recommendation of the Girls' Council. These girls act as big sisters to the sophomore girls, meeting with them six times during the first semester to acquaint the new students with high school life. Miss Reitz also teaches classes in health and sponsors all social functions.

MISS EDNA REITZ

MR. EDWARD F. EGE

Guidance Counsellor

The functions of the Guidance Counsellor are numerous. Mr. Edward Ege, our Guidance Counsellor, is always ready to be a personal advisor to every student of Wilkinsburg High School as he plans his schedule for the next semester. As college requirements change from year to year and new catalogs are required, Mr. Ege keeps us posted as to these changes and it is he, who efficiently advises us all, whether seniors, juniors or sophomores, in relation to credits, and the courses and subjects best suited for the course we are to pursue. Our advisor keeps in contact with graduates through the school Employment Service, which is an aid to many former students that are seeking employment.

Bang! Bang! Bang! go the hammers and tongs from the shops
Snip! Snip! Snip! go the shears from the sewing rooms. Snif!
Snif! Snif! go we all as we get a whif of the goodies from the cooking classes. First in line are the wood shop boys armed to the teeth with nails and keeping their hammers in tune with the needs of this modern age. That purr we hear is from contented and healthy motors and batteries that have found new life in the auto shop. Right in line are the electric boys with their displays of lights, coils, generators, lamps, floor plugs, radios, doorbells, and transformers with all their complicated parts exposed. Look! Here come the girls leading a parade of tempting foods—foamy desserts pudding, spicy pickles, jars of fruit, loaves of bread, pies, cakes and even chicken a la kings—demonstrating as they march along the delicate art of delicious cooking and economic house keeping.
Next in line is a fashion parade of the latest and smartest styles modeled by future duchesses and queens of style. There are school clothes, playtime dresses, and party frocks, all in a colorful gala array.

One For All and All For One

Heads up! English marches on! Over the rolling hills of words and phrases with senior English, under the guidance of Woolley, in the lead, comes a distinguished group-literature, both English and American, followed by Theme Writing, the twins Modern Essays and Stories and dear old Grammar. Flying high are banners bearing such words as, "More Book Reports," "Longer Themes," and "Down with Easy Nightwork." One curious little banner was labeled "Nicer Notes and Friendlier Letters." Behind these came the float, with S. and P. painted on its side (Subject and Predicate) on which rode many passive Verbs and Nouns. Stepping snappily along come active Verbs and Prep O'Sitions and little Con(nie) Junction followed by a host of commas and periods. Regardless of person, number, gender, and case, all eight parts of speech fall into line to march to the front. Closing up the rear, comes a grand finale. For there's poetry with her ballads, her odes and her sonnets, with a group of dignified plays. Then there's the novel all dressed up in brief reviews with book reports and precis writing. Finally without a falter comes a myriad of Oral English topics, eagerly striving to keep the pace set for all.

Click! Click! Click! Here comes General Business with his typewriting crew. Peck! Peck! Peck! Back space. Swish! Tap! Tap! Tap! New paragraph formation. Thus they march to the rhythm of their favorite song, "100 Words In A Minute." Now in perfect order we see little bottles of ink with pens, and rulers coming next, followed by the debits and the credits, the profits and the losses, the assets and the liabilities, with the overheads, the incomes, the costs, and the retail prices, all striving to keep in their places and some to keep out of the red ranks. Singing in a mechanical language of their own, queer little figures consisting of dots and dashes, with twisted lines and curves, tramp proudly along in the parade of shorthand. Behind them come their less known but equally dignified companions, the triplets—Commercial Geography directing routes with product-arrayed maps; Commercial Arithmetic counting the miles and demonstrating the short cuts, while Commercial Law keeps them all within bounds. With them are all their relatives from Office Practice and Transcription. There come the packs of the filing cards with card indexes. Behind them quietly march the Dictaphone drills. Speedy figures from adding machines and comptometers with mimeograph forms in triplicate copies keep a steady pace as whole sets of bookkeeping and accounting problems strive to keep a perfect balance. Bringing up the rear comes another group of the typewriter crew keeping time with their tap, tap, tap!

Hands Across the Sea

With English leading the international display of words, we exhibit our banners proudly waving on high over the heads of our neighbors across the sea. With bands playing the Marseilles, Deutschland ueber alles, and other national anthems, the parade comes to a halt for everyone to salute. The marchers then swing into line joining hands and thoughts with those of other lands. Thus parades the foreign Language Department in all its glory. Latin, the parent language of all, is leading the way with French, Spanish, and German following in close formation. French verbs and Spanish pronouns step along with Latin declensions, keeping in perfect time with the music of the Romance languages. In the distance may be heard the steady tramp of Caesar's legions, thundering voice of Cicero, or the quieting musical refrain of Virgil's verses; while nearer may be heard their modern counterparts from France, from Spain, and from Germany.

En avant, marchons! Liberte! Egalite! Fraternite! Las señoritas Espanoles bailen. Parade! Marsch! So onward march these students of languages trying to promote a better understanding for international peace and good will.

Bugs and Numbers

To the tuneful clash of tuning forks and the rhythmic beat of rules and sines, the Mathematic and Science departments come marching by. In advance is Chemistry, who acts as the drum major for the Science Department, followed by his two industrious lieutenants, Biology and Physics. Then come the dancing numbers very striking in their cubistic and triangular uniforms. Geometry stepping high and waving tangents, segments, and circles in the air. After him comes his cabinet Algebra with its signs all dressed up in their alphabetic suits and General Math with his quadruplets, Addition, Subtraction, Multiplication, and Division.

MATHEMATICS and SCIENCE

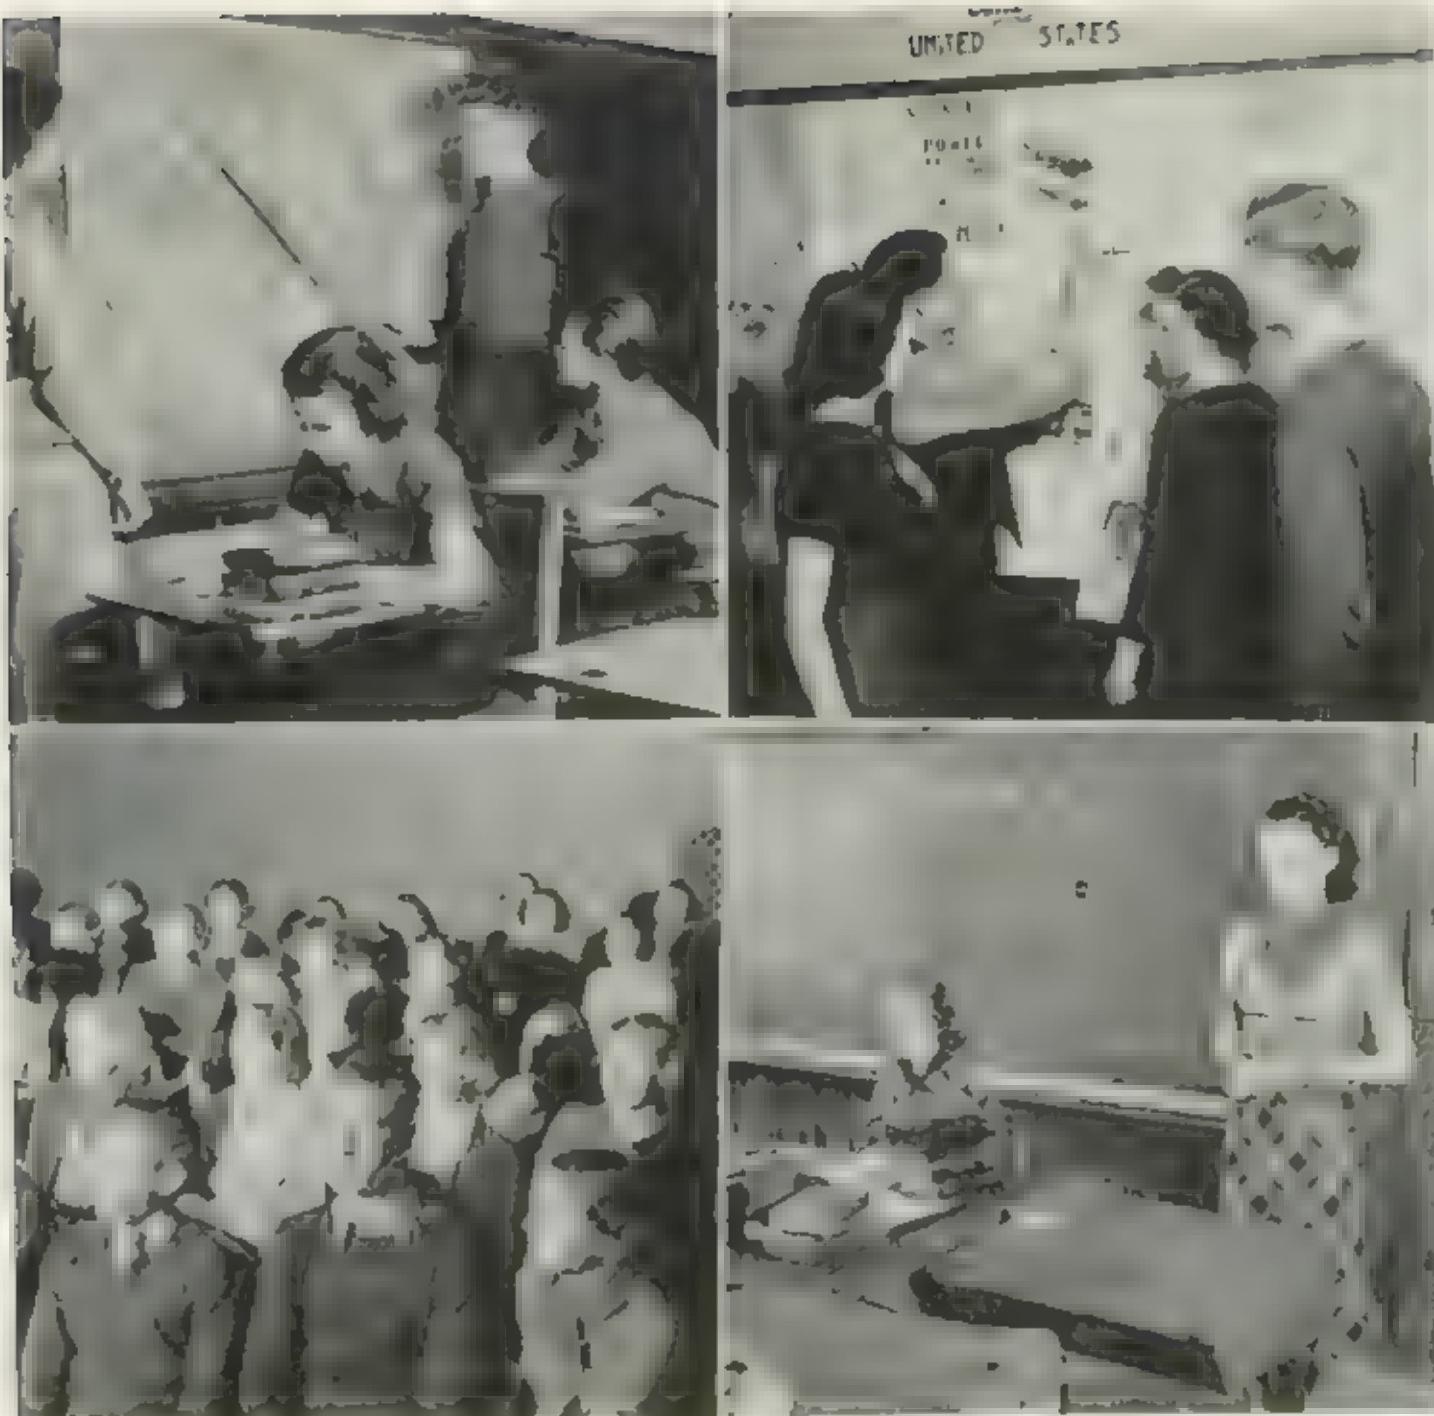

Next in line and cosining very beautifully are such famous personages in mixed array, parallelograms and rhomboids, circles and squares with many an odd shaped figure

Here comes H₂O and NaCl all dressed up in test tubes and beakers; there's an atom or two with a big bug and a bee; but no little germs do we see without our microscopic eyes. There are rays of light, with weights and measures little sounds and heat waves all in scientific form

In Tune With the Times

Do, re, mi, tra, la, la! The Music Department comes into view! There's the band and the choir in their well known uniforms, parading ahead of the orchestra and music classes. With them are many famous celebrities. There's Dr. Um and From Bone, Sop Rano, and Al To, and of course, all the little Sharps and Flats and the Naturals, all in tuneful array.

Now we see two pages announcing The Yankee King, and there he is, in all his regal robes, followed by his supporting cast. Then come the many little but interesting One Act Plays with their directors and managers. Look! now we can see Sophomore Workshop and the Voice Speaking Choir and Public Speaking. There's dear old Play Production marching ahead of Senior Play.

MUSIC, SPEECH and HISTORY

Here comes History repeating herself, as she delves into the past, bringing her huge family with her. There's P. O. D. squabbling with General History over who has the largest following. Look! Here are the dates, important and otherwise, vying with one another for the first place of honor. And there are the patriots and politicians with their much loved important facts, trying to demonstrate which can create the greatest cause and effect for the banner head in march of time.

They Also Serve

That any parade may start on time, keep in line and pass in front of the reviewing stand in the manner in which those in charge have planned depends upon those who are entrusted to the carrying out of all specific duties. In the Parade of 1938 we see a multitude of little things being put into their place that all may march in rank. Record cards in alphabetical order fall in line with their high and low grades followed by those austere state reports. Then comes the flutter of the daily attendance sheets. To the beat of ting-a-ling-ling of the bell, comes those wire-walking telephone calls in front of a motley array of numerous little duties, such as screen notices, injury reports, work certificates, blank reports with letters which keep filing in and out, and notices galore. All these fall in routine order to make a good parade.

PARENT TEACHER ASSOCIATION

The Parent-Teacher Association, composed of the faculty and parents of the students, is one of the most active organizations in our school. Parents, teachers, and students profit, when parents and teachers become acquainted and are able to work together for the student interests. Interesting and educational meetings are carefully planned and held each month. During the football season, the Parent-Teacher Association has charge of the refreshment stand. The profits, obtained from selling countless hot dogs, ice cream, candy, and peanuts, are used to promote the welfare work of our school. This work provides baskets at Thanksgiving and Christmas. Lunches, clothing, and transportation are furnished for others. Some of the money this year will be used for graduation needs.

Sound of the Drums

STOP! LOOK! LISTEN! Here comes the band! Hear that peppy music and see those boys high-stepping it to a snappy march! Rain or shine, hot or cold, we know that the band will lead our parades and march off with the prizes as they did in the Wilkinsburg Golden Anniversary Parade and again in the Hallowe'en Parade. When there's a lull in pep-meetings or when the team is winning or losing, the band never fails to strike up a peppy song and in a few minutes everybody's shouting and the team starts down the field for a touchdown. Rat-a-tat-tat! Long may they lead our marches!

In Song Our Voices Raise

"Without a song—the day could never end." The A Cappella Choir strives to make this motto felt throughout the school by its daily choral singing of responses in chapel, caroling at Christmas time, and by the annual fall and spring concerts.

In addition to singing in school productions such as the Christmas Concert and the Spring Festival, the choir has represented our school by singing in clubs, at Kaufmann's store during the Christmas season, at Carnegie Music Hall, and at the noontime services during Holy Week at the First Presbyterian Church of Wilkinsburg.

The choir rehearses one period each day and before every public production they spend much time, after school hours, perfecting their selections. A choir member always leads the hymn during chapel service, and the choir also takes an active part in our song chapels.

Under the capable direction of Mr. R. O. Barkley, the choir keeps a leading position in the parade of school activities.

ORCHESTRA

MUSIC HATH CHARMS

Music hath charm they say, and we have learned to anticipate its charm to prepare us for our daily chapel service. Although we too often enter chapel and take our seats, chattering all the while we do feel its charm and know it to be a source of great pleasure.

After the tap of the gavel, two members of this orchestra direct our meditations as they play the prelude. Again the entire orchestra plays as it accompanies the singing of the hymn, which is under student direction. Much of the enjoyment of our song chapels on Tuesdays is due to the orchestra as it accompanies the students as they sing their favorite songs. Then there is that lively march, which sends us from chapel to the next class, full of pep. Not only at chapel time, but also at all school productions the orchestra entertains the audience with favorite concert selections as they wait for the curtain to rise on another successful performance.

Each year, several of our members are selected for the All-Western and the All-State Orchestras. Trios and quartets are organized from the orchestra to provide entertainment for various clubs and organizations.

Not only must members of the orchestra have instrumental talent, but they must also spend many hours of out-of-school time to learn the selections in order to make their daily practices together instructive and worth while. Unless we are students of instrumental music, we often do not realize the hours of patient practicing that is needed to make a harmonious rendering of one of our favorite selections.

Although the orchestra receives little publicity during the school year, it occupies a very important place in our Parade of 1938.

DRAMA

On With The Play

Among the most delightful divisions of our parade are our school plays presented by students of the speech department. Besides the many one-act plays, two major plays are given each year known as the fall and spring plays. The seniors of 1937 gave as their spring production The Rivals by Sheridan, a costume play of the Shakespearean period. The fall play this year was The Yankee King which proved a delightful surprise to everyone with its bit of mystery.

ACTIVITY BOARD

The Business of the Year

Every other Wednesday, there is a meeting of that important organization, the Activity Board, to listen to the reading of the minutes and to transact the business of the board. In these minutes is a record of all school finances secured from plays and exhibitions and how it is spent. Beside financial records other business actions are recorded for the board elects student managers of all school productions and the editor and business managers of the yearbook and newspaper, the Annual and Hi Ways.

This organization definitely gives the students an opportunity to participate in school operations even though the membership is limited to five students. With the five students, elected by popular vote of the student body, are four faculty members, appointed by Mr. Carson, who acts as chairman. An important organization deserving a place of honor in the Parade of 1938.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Information Please

'Has my green umbrella with the yellow stripes been turned in?" This is but one of the many inquiries that are put to members of the Student Council daily. One of the most important duties of the Student Council is the sponsoring of the Information and Lost and Found Departments, which have their headquarters at the Student Council Desk. In connection with their work, the Student Council compiled a Student Handbook which has proven itself indispensable to juniors and seniors as well as to sophomores.

All student elections are sponsored by the Student Council and the Council itself annually chooses the ushers and the cheerleaders for the following year.

We are indebted to this organization for our peppy football programs in the fall. Extensive research work for any new school project is made by the Student Council before it is undertaken. All charters for new clubs are granted by them. Cheerful messages are sent to students who are unable to attend school because of sickness.

This school governing group consists of twelve seniors, six juniors, and three sophomores, who are elected by their classmates. Those elected serve until graduation. The organization meets every second Tuesday and behind the closed doors of those meetings the very life of the school is nourished and encouraged to attain higher standards.

Under the excellent sponsorship of Miss Ruth Long and Miss Helen Anderson, the Student Council has led our Parade of 1938 through another successful year.

Mounting pictures—it's the time the Annual room smelled like a glue factory or rubber vat. Putting the dummy together—everybody with different ideas. Proof-reading—how do you spell "believe", "ie" or "ei"? The Annual goes to press—hurrah!—what a relief, a sigh from the very heart of the staff and an especially large one from the editor and the advisors.

Now there's nothing to do but wait—which is almost as bad as working late at night. Finally the day of distribution—smiles from all sides, as delighted sophomores and juniors find their pictures, the seniors busily exchange "Best Wishes" and signatures.

The dark circles under the eyes of the advisors, the editor and the entire staff were worth all those smiles we hope you will get when you look at the Parade of 1938.

The Eyes and Ears of the School

PAPER! PAPER! EXTRA! EXTRA! Not the shouts of the Hi Ways salesmen, but really what every Hi Ways is—an Extra Superfine Edition.

Unlike other newspapers it can be purchased for two days. If you forgot your nickel on Thursday or just had to have some ice cream for lunch, you can always get your copy at the Student Council Desk on Friday.

Walk into the Hi Ways Office any evening before the paper goes to press and you may be met and may be knocked over by a reporter who simply must get something to fill up the last column on page four.

However, this is not the only time the staff works, for when something funny unusual, or particularly dumb happens, there always seems to be a Hi Ways Reporter around to jot it down in his little black notebook. Then, to the amusement of some and the embarrassment of others, it is sure to appear in the next issue of the Hi Ways.

Then there is that time consumer, the bane of every reporter's existence—headlines. Almost any time in the day you can find at least one reporter talking to himself, counting on his fingers, or chewing a pencil over a line that has too many units.

Then, Scoop! that rare occasion in a reporter's life when he gets a pat on the back from the editor and his article appears on the front page.

However, our editor does not sit on a swivel chair with his feet on the desk and bark orders at all his underdogs, he works with them and with the advice of Miss Beatty and the cooperation of the staff, he has made every issue of the Hi WAYS an "extra edition."

HI-Y CLUB. Forward marches the Hi-Y Club, steadily striving to reach a goal of clean speech, clean sportsmanship, and clean living. Review of Reviewers

BOOK CLUB. Books to the right of them; books to the left of them; between rows of books the members truck past the reviewing stand in fine style. The purpose of the club is to select the new books that are to be bought for the library—incidentally, having a good time. Meetings are held on the average of once a month with one big party each semester. Whether love of books or the interesting social meetings make this club one of the most popular is not known—but it has a waiting list!

COMMERCIAL CLUB. Typists, Accountants, Bookkeepers, and Auditors desert their files to join the ranks of the Parade of '38. "Right! March!" comes over the Gramaphone and the orders are quickly obeyed. Speakers are usually in order for the evening; once the speaker was the champion typist, whose fingers flew so rapidly over the keys it seemed impossible that he could think so fast. Dancing and a social evening are enjoyed later by club members.

GERMAN CLUB Heil Guckelberger! German Club greets die Fuehrerin in true German style. Their parade is under way and they goosestep along quite merrily, to the homes of the members where interesting programs are held. One long to be remembered, was when our vice principal, Mr. Getter, who was in Europe last summer, showed his moving pictures of das Deutschland. Although the members insist their favorite refreshment to be German Pfeffernuessen, it is noted that such American foods as sandwiches and lemonade are quickly devoured.

Loquerisne Latium?

LATIN CLUB. Like Roman Legions of old, the battle-scarred followers of Caesar's wars, the fervent adherents of the fiery Cicero, and the weary wanderers of Virgil, who traveled along with Aeneas join hands to form a parade to represent the Latin Club. Although their purpose is to add to the general background gained in class room study, the club enjoys especially the social hour of dancing after the regular meeting. At one of the meetings movies were shown of the life and loves of Caesar.

ART CLUB. Portrait Painting, Copies of Old Masters, and Modernistic Art are some of the subjects discussed by members of the Art Club. At their bi-weekly meetings, the club frequently has a guest speaker to discuss etchings, sculpturing, and other phases of art. Sometimes these lectures are illustrated with movies. The purpose of the club is to deepen the appreciation of good art.

The club, though small, is one of the most energetic ones in school and with their activities present a colorful picture in our parade.

The work they have been doing in class is shown at meetings for approval. The curtain falls and we may partake of refreshments and enjoy dancing.

SPANISH CLUB. Bonibes may be falling in Spain and the Fascists and Communists having a bloody fight, but as the Spanish Club passes the reviewing stand in the Parade of 1938, all is in order in the ranks. Spanish is spoken at meetings but we wager such troublesome things as tense and voice are forgotten for a while.

SR. COUNSELLORS. Big sisters next! This the most important group to the new small sophomore girls form next in line with all their helpful hints in what the school girl should wear, what to do under different situations and other general information of the school's activities. Each girl is given five sophomore girls and meetings are held every other week during chapel period for the first semester, and often teas are given by several senior counsellors for their girls. They are appointed by Miss Edna Reitz, our dean, and although most of them are seniors, however a few juniors also belong in the ranks.

MUSIC CLUB. On a big scale is the Music Club with its huge membership. It is a club for any student who is enrolled in any musical activity as the band, orchestra, choir, or choral groups may march in the Music Club Parade. This is the only club in school that sponsors a regular dance each year, which has been one of delightful features of the school's social year. The purpose of the club is to further the appreciation of music among the members and the student body.

These girls, known as the Girls' Council are selected by their classmates from the various health classes. Who Also Serve SCHOOL AIDS. A busy little group that passes seemingly without much recognition and one whose members are steadily on the job is that group which for the want of a better name we call school aids. One part of this group collects twice daily the absent slips for the office to use in making up the daily attendance record. Another division works in the library helping with the work of charging the books which are taken out for over-night use. Others help to check the books as they are returned the following day and to replace them on the shelves in their proper places and some assist in mending the worn out and torn books.

This Way Please

USHERS. "Two seats down front on the aisle? Yes, suggest this way." Thus, you are greeted by a courteous, uniformed usher as you enter the auditorium doors. Not only do the ushers serve at all school productions, but they also take care of the auditorium doors at chapel time and see that any visitors or late-comers find seats. The boys are often called upon to serve at community productions that take place in the auditorium, and in this way they represent our school at outside functions. The boys work hard and the sponsor, has reason to be proud of this well-trained group of boys which ushers our Parade of 1938.

First Flight

AVIATION. High up in the air tiny planes flash and glitter in the bright sunlight—first a tailspin and then a complicated barrel roll—a swift dip and then just lazily gliding smoothly through the air—to be flying that ship is the foremost ambition of every boy in the Aviation Club. In order that each member may be well trained in fundamentals, the boys begin by making tiny model airplanes—as nearly perfect, on the tiny scale, as they can be. Later they have real pilots and other men interested in flying as speakers to talk to them on the phases of the field of aeronautics.

STAGE CREW. Look out below! Here comes the girls drop! This is what is commonly known as "back-stage life." Accompanied by the pounding of hammers and the swishing of paint brushes, the stage crew works tirelessly, night after night, in order to get the scenery ready for a current production. Not only for school performances, but for community productions as well these boys have charge of the curtains and the scenery of the stage. During our chapel exercises, the screen and the curtains are operated by a member of the stage crew. Although they are never in the limelight, the stage crew takes a honorable position in the Parade of 1938.

Super Salesmen

"Tickets! Tickets! Tickets for sale! Get your football tickets here. Buy an Annual! Become a subscriber now!" Such is the lingo of the homeroom managers or the business representatives of the students performing their duties as salesmen.

During the first week of the school year these managers were chosen by their respective report room groups to transact the sale of all tickets and the Annual for the entire school year.

Just to listen to the sales talks of these homeroom managers is to follow the calendar of events during the year. For example, the first week of school is introduced to us by—"We have the finest student handbooks ever printed here. How many do you need?" Later we are told of the football schedule in a peppy sales talk—"The first football game is this Saturday! Get your season tickets now before they are all sold." Then there is the campaign for Annual sales and these early down payments remind us that the semester is half over. Soon we know that the Christmas Concert is near, by—"This is the last sale of Christmas Concert tickets." Then in January comes the last call for down payments for the Annual.

As sure a sign of spring as the groundhog's shadow is—"Next Wednesday is the last day for the second installment on your Annual." We know that senior vacation is here when we hear "Get your receipts now; the Annual comes out tomorrow!" So another year comes to completion, and the homeroom managers have played an essential part in the Parade of 1938.

Here comes the band—up Penn Avenue—in the left gate—onto the field—and the first part of the sports parade passes in review

A good beginning is always a bad ending—so states an old proverb. True to the proverb, our gridders won the first five games but then came the slump—three games in a row were lost. The next game, Penn High, was a walkaway; then for the first time in five years, Swissvale tied the Red and Blue. The finale of the football float shows us receiving a trouncing by the Turtle Creek boys.

The season, however, produced some brilliant performers, most of all Ronnie Shafet, a W. H. S. champion fullback. In the Norwin game, he alone gained a net of 162 yards. Joe Willinsky became a star halfback. Such able performers as Dave Wike, Hilly Dahl, Haddy Ernest, and Johnny Saccamango were veterans from last year. Due to an injury, Wike played at end instead of his usual position, quarterback, which was played by John Moody. Tony DeVito played the left halfback, Stevick played at right end, Schwartz at left guard, and Scott snapped back the ball.

Wilkinsburg was after a winning score after last year's scoreless tie. Burg battled a powerful and heavy veteran Class A line and brought the stands to their feet with a 12-0 victory. This contest showed Burg had a deceptive backfield with a repertoire of trick plays and a fast, hard-charging line.

SEWICKLEY—2

As our second opponents we played Class B Sewickley. Although a lighter team, Sewickley had a good defensive team that took advantage of a Burg's mistake and made a safety. A wide end run and a beautifully executed shovel pass paved the way for the Burg touchdowns. Sewickley twice threatened our goal but was thrust back

After a fair start, Burg was primed for our traditional foe, Norwin. Six of Norwin's seven linemen were "green". Although outweighed Burg, had the edge on the defensive ability. Willinsky made both touchdowns. Note: Tar Onder and Jake Bohren, Norwin and Burg coaches, were All-Americans at Pitt 1932 and 1923 respectively.

A highly praised team of mountaineers come along in the parade to play Burg on the Town's Anniversary Day. Every boy on our bench had a chance to show his form as we gave W. Va. S. F. D. a 33-0 defeat. The boys from West Virginia put up an excellent fight, but were outclassed by our boys.

SOUTH—6

Only a last minute rally beat South. The city team had a rare passing attack, the main defense of South's team. Their touchdown was one of the most brilliant parts of our sports parade. But, not to be outdone, Burg got into the fighting mood and passed the ball for the winning touchdown.

BRADDOCK—8

On a sloppy, rainsoaked, mudcaked field, Braddock stopped our winning streak. As Braddock had a heavier team it was able to stop our running attacks. Our boys with less experience made a remarkable showing in holding this older and more experienced squad.

BURG—14LATROBE—28

Hoping again to defeat Latrobe after last year's surprise, Burg had all hopes shattered in a free scoring fray. Latrobe used both a passing and a running attack to get her four scores while Burg bucked the line twice.

BURG—41*PENN—0

In the last winning game of the season Penn High, our neighbor and new rival, stepped into the Graham Field gridiron to be set back 41-0. Penn brought along a one-armed player something Burg had never seen before. He played an excellent game at center. For the second time this year, the whole squad played

This year Swissvale was out to beat Burg since Ben Pauley had one of his most powerful teams in sixteen years. Although our boys were as determined that victory would not go to Swissvale, it seemed as though neither team could score. Burg held the edge throughout the game.

TURTLE CREEK—14

Wilkinsburg played a regular season Thanksgiving Day game for the first time in quite a number of years. On a cold, snowy muddy field Turtle Creek turned Joe Ritter loose on the Burg tiger. Although Turtle Creek had two touchdowns and a safety there was not much difference in the caliber of the teams. Burg showed a fighting spirit to the close of the football season.

BASKETBALL

Although the 1937-38 basketball team did not establish an unusual record, it did prove itself to be one of the finest teams to represent Wilkinsburg High School. The boys were on their toes from the very first but failed to win the championship.

Russ Stevick led the scorers with 294 markers, breaking an all time record that was made last year by George Schwartzkopf. John Stiefel bagged 20 out of 34 foul tries for an average of .588.

Our cagers were invited to play in the A-K Tournament at New Kensington again this year. We defeated Springdale in the first game, but we were put out of the running by Butler in the last few moments of a thrilling game.

The season's average was 480, twelve games won and thirteen lost.

BASEBALL

When baseball training began last spring, the hope for a successful season was small, but Mr. Grimm brought his team up to a standard that was excellent for fellows who were new to varsity baseball. They played nine games, won four and lost five.

The 1937 Track team made the best record ever gained by a W. H. S. cinder squad, winning six successive dual meets. They also captured first place honors in the Allegheny County Independent Boro meet, won third place of twenty-four schools at the Pitt Indoor Relays and again third of thirty-eight teams in the W. P. I. A. L. meet.

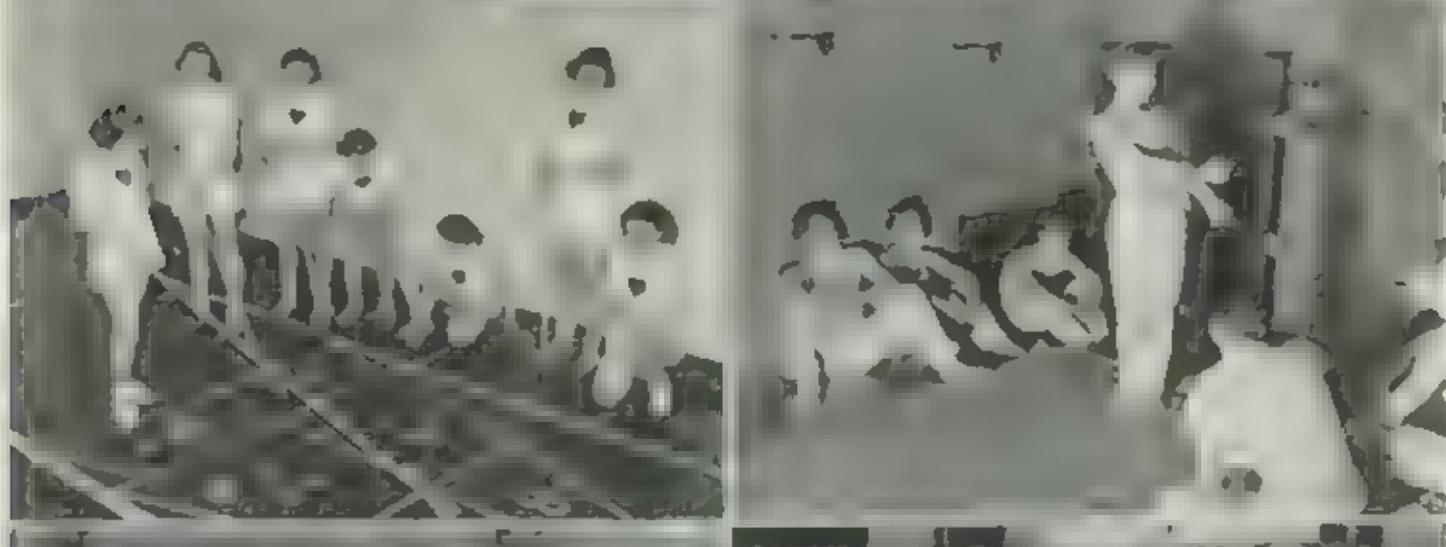

George Poindexter, outstanding performer of the year, made the best record ever attained by a student of W. H. S. He was also one of the greatest track stars in Western Pennsylvania.

INTRA-MURAL SPORTS

Each year increased emphasis is being placed on intra-mural athletic activities for both boys and girls. This type of physical education enables a greater portion of the student body to secure the benefits derived from participating in the various sports. Expansion of intra-mural athletics is a trend in modern high schools because varsity sports afford an opportunity to only a limited number of students. With the rapidly increasing enrollment in our high school in the last few years, it has become necessary to offer to this larger group an opportunity of entering the more varied sports and recreational activities that a well-balanced educational program may be maintained. For both boys and girls there is fencing, swimming, basketball, and tennis. In addition, the girls have horseback riding, hockey, and volleyball, and the boys have handball and bowling.

GYM CLUBS. One of the finest developments of intra-mural activities are the boys' gym club and the girls' gym club, called the Leaders Club. Eligibility to the boys' gym club requires an interest in athletic activities and regular attendance at their meetings. For membership in the Leaders Club a girl must have earned a hundred points in intra-mural sports to be entered upon the eligibility list, from which new members are chosen by the club.

The main project of the year's work for both is to form the nucleus for the gym exhibit held each spring. Beside the gym exhibit the boys compete in inter-scholastic gym contests.

GYM EXHIBIT. As a climax to the year's gym work a gym exhibit is held every spring. At this time the parents and friends are given an opportunity to see demonstrations of the regular and of special gym activities. These stunts consist of drills in tennis, fencing, basketball, roller-skating, with waltz and modern dance numbers by the girls. The boys demonstrate the general phase of gym work in games and show special skills in tumbling and acrobatic work.

FIELD DAY. Field Day is an outdoor demonstration of the physical education activities of all the Wilkinsburg schools from elementary through high school. It is held at Graham Field late in the spring so that the people of Wilkinsburg can have a general view of the work carried on throughout the school system. The program consists of mass drills and group drills of students from different schools. Besides drills are racing and field-meet stunts.

The Boys' and Girls' Fencing Club

BOWLING. The Wilkinsburg High School Intra-Mural Bowling League has steadily increased in number until there are sixty members divided into twelve teams. The boys bowl every Friday afternoon at four o'clock at a local bowling alley. The group is entirely self governed with Edward Rogers serving as manager and Charles Wilcox as treasurer. The boys hold a banquet as the final event of the season.

FENCING. The Fencing Club is the only intra-mural sport in which both boys and girls participate jointly. There are two fencing groups—the beginners and the advanced, the latter constitute those who have had a year's practice. The requirements for membership into each group are the same, attendance at two successive weekly practices. Both groups participated in the Gym Exhibit this spring.

RIDING AND HOCKEY. Riding horseback is one of the newer and best-liked sports for the girls. The girls ride at the Squirrel Hill Riding Academy on Saturday morning. There are three different groups, each group riding for an hour.

With enthusiastic interest many girls attended the hockey practices held at Turner Field during the hockey season. The girls played practice games among themselves and then scheduled varsity games with Edgewood High School and the Pitt freshmen. The results were: Edgewood 3-0 and 0-0; Pitt freshmen 2-1.

BASKETBALL. Basketball is another of the intra-mural activities in which great interest is shown by both boys and girls. About one hundred and twenty-five boys who played were divided into teams, each team playing every other team. The Cougars won the boys' final playoff. The three girls' teams captained by Ruth Niggl, Betsy Evans, and Frances Beiswenger, engaged in a tournament as their main feature with Betsy Evans' team in winning place.

SWIMMING. Swimming this year took the form of a "cross country" meet adding keen interest to the girls' swimming. The length of the Junior High School pool measured the distances between the cities. The winner was Betty Davis with Betty McMahon a close second.

TENNIS. All of the intra-mural tennis was played in tournament style. The girls played at the Greene Street courts, and the boys at Graham Field. Carolyn Aikman was the champion followed by Ethel James as close runner-up. Twenty-seven boys enrolled in the boys' tennis tournament with Stephen Harwig winning first place.

HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF 1938

Officers: G. White, J. Hurt, L. Knodt,
B. McGarvey

In September of 1935, the largest class of sophomores ever to enter Wilkinsburg High School took its place in line, and the long parade started forward. With Bob Archibald as the president, Tom Cummings, vice president, Betty Travis, treasurer Ruth Dumm, secretary, and Virginia Porter, historian, the class quickly began taking its place in school activities. Members were elected to places in Student Council, and others took their places in clubs and sports. To speed up the tempo of the march, the sophomores held a Transcontinental Trot as their first big dance. This affair was acclaimed a great success, and to prove their unselfishness, the sophomores gave part of the proceeds to aid the sufferers of the St. Patrick's Day flood. By the end of the first year the class of 1938 was well established in the school, and capable of marching ahead during the following year.

Then, as juniors, they wasted no time in electing three of their classmates, Virginia Porter, Bill Morgan, and Dave Wike, to positions on the Activity Board. Having done so, they selected George White to lead the junior division of the parade with Tom Cummings, vice president, Louise Knodt, secretary, Bill McKee, treasurer, and Dorothy Piper, historian, as his assistants. Many juniors again made worthwhile contributions in the fields of sports, clubs and scholastic achievement. The fall play, Eyes of Tlaloc, also included several juniors in its cast. This year Winter Wonderland was chosen as the theme of the class dance. Much hard work transformed the gym into a beautiful winter garden, in spite of the lack of winter outside. In the spring many outstanding juniors were chosen as members of National Honor Society, and John Stiefel was chosen as president of the society for the coming year. This thorough drilling while in the less important ranks trained the juniors well for their position at the head of the parade as seniors.

It seemed like a long hard march at times, but the coveted position at the front of the line was finally reached. Now, after two years of preparation, the class of 1938 was ready to lead the rest of the parade. George White, the new class president, and his co-workers, Jane Hurt, vice president, Louise Knodt, secretary, Bettie McGarvey, treasurer, Dorothy Piper, historian, took their places at the head of the line. Then as managers and players on varsity teams, presidents of clubs, and members of all school organizations, the seniors began leading the school throughout the rest of the year. The fall play, The Yankee King, was one of the funniest ever presented, and many seniors helped in producing it. Editing the Hi Ways and the Annual also kept many of them busy. The parade of 1938 is now over. Spectators say it was one of the most colorful and interesting parades ever witnessed. The seniors are ready and waiting to take their places in a still bigger parade. One can't help feeling, that they will be as successful as they march through life as they were in the three years' march through high school.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Time marches on! And with it marches the student leaders of today, to be the leaders of tomorrow in industry, in the school rooms, in the political fields, and in every field of endeavor. This large group of students composes what is known as the National Honor Society. To be in this organization is an honor unparalleled in all high school life.

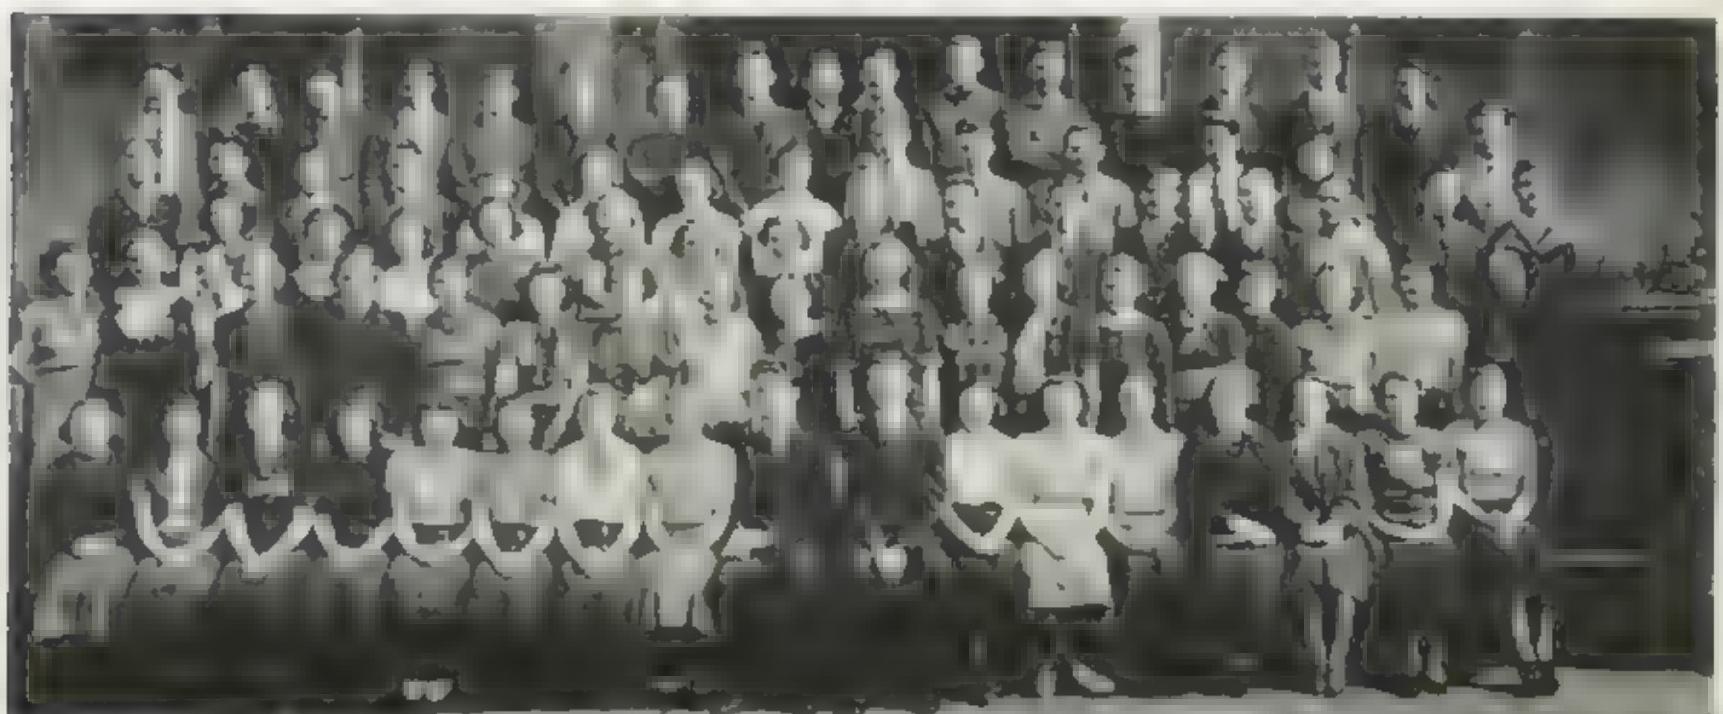

Students who are given the privilege of being in this society, are those who have continually, through their association with the faculty and cooperation in school activities, shown the spirit of a truly good citizen.

To be eligible, one must, according to the by-laws of the organization, be in the upper third of his class and be considered outstanding in service, character, and leadership. Then only a small percent of the senior class can have this honor bestowed on them and a still smaller percent of the junior class can be selected.

Therefore there are always a number of students eligible who cannot be elected because of the limitation of numbers. But in this, as in out-of-school affairs, not all the worthy ones are chosen.

The National Honor Society, in collaboration with the Student Council, Activity Board, and Ushers, holds a banquet every year. In addition there is the regular induction service at which the new members take the pledge of the society. Then too, they usher for the annual Open House Night each spring. Although the activities of the society are few, since it is an honor society, but nevertheless the members have been participating in the activities of other organizations so there is little left for the society to do.

JUNIORS and SOPHOMORES

Juniors: To the steps of the Big Apple the junior class of '39 is trucking to the top. For two years the class has been kept busy peckin people to start a "posin" in the various activities. So the class is forever "praisin Alloh" for never getting out of step or missing time.

DICK BOYLE, VICE PRESIDENT; JANE EVANS, SECRETARY; BETTY YOUNG, TREASURER; MARJORIE LEATHEN, HISTORIAN; CHARLES HENLEY, FELICITY BOARD; JAN FULTON, BARBARA FERGUSON, SHIRLEY TETLEY, AND BETTY MARIE HOPKINS.

Sophomores: For a brief moment it seemed that the sophomores were going to stage a sit down strike in place of parading in order to find themselves all because there were class rooms and lockers which persisted in keeping themselves in unknown places. But with the election of a good leader the class has been keeping pace with the upper classes.

GIVE HIM TWO CHANCES INSTEAD OF ONE

THROUGH a trust fund at this institution you can protect your son's inheritance until he has gained sufficient skill and experience to handle it himself.

Instead of having him receive the entire bequest when he becomes of age, you can arrange to have him obtain only a portion of it at that time.

Later, when he reaches greater maturity, the remainder can be turned over to him. If he made mistakes with his early inheritance, this latter fund will give him his second chance.

We will be glad to discuss this phase of trust service with you at your convenience.

THE history of a university is the story of men struggling with disappointment and commonness and frustration for that which they have called by various names, some of them practical honesty, good sense, security; and some of them visionary—freedom, goodness, beauty. A university is a protest against dullness and a prayer for strength and wisdom.—AGNES LYNCH STARRETT

TINY WHISPER MAKES EXH

There was a tiny Whisper, who
Crept in the chapel door.
Nobody knew just who he was
He'd not been there before

He settled down upon a seat
To have a little rest
But the quiet sere oppressed him
Cause he liked the noise best

So whisper grew and grew some more.
Like Gossip (who's his cousin)
At all the other Whispers, all
Around us by the dozen

Now all complain of Whisper
They like him not at all.
These chapels from the others,
Are quite a distant call

They don't just know that Whisper
Has settled down to stay.
Unless we'll all get busy
And will begin to say,

"Well, Whisper, so you're going
This is a happy day
We didn't see your coming
But we hear you go away

... but wherever Wilkinsburg High graduates sail in the busy world before them, they will find Westinghouse products helping to make it a better world. And whether the port be business, manufacturing, engineering, professional work or housekeeping, they will find Westinghouse electrical servants and services to help unload their cargoes of responsibilities.

Thousands everywhere have found in "the name that means everything in electricity" the name of a friend. To Wilkinsburg High graduates it is also the name of a neighbor who has been interested for many years in the progress of the Institute and its children. To those now about to embark on high adventure in the world beyond, Westinghouse pledges again the friendship of a good neighbor. Your patronage may be given to Westinghouse products with full assurance that it will be both deserved and appreciated. Westinghouse Electric & Mfg. Co., East Pittsburgh, Penna.

THIS THING CALLED EDUCATION

They call it education,
This constant learning grind;
Is there no termination
To ease my aching mind?

Study and learn with all your might,
Is what they teach you to do;
Even this lowly poem I must write,
With rythm and meter too.

Will this torture ever cease?
So some day I may find
An uneducated place of peace;
Where I can rest my mind.

Mary Zieglar

CREATIVE ENGLISH

I'm asked to write a poem.
It's hard for me to do,
But I shall try my very best
To rhyme a line or two

But I can tear a car down,
And fix what makes it tick;
Now do you think, dear teacher,
That you can do that trick?

Each has his special talent
And mine's not writing verse
I really am surprised at this,
It could have been much worse
